

In the dilapidated Six Towers district of Duskvol, the antique ROWAN MANOR is one of the last of the eponymous grand residences still inhabited by its original noble family. The Rowan family rules their holdings from within the fortress, rarely venturing beyond its walls.

The young heir, LORD MARCUS ROWAN, paces furiously in the great hall before an assembled court. He points accusingly at his bride-to-be, the wealthy merchant's daughter VERETTA WHITETHORN.

"I don't believe you! If you aren't wearing that diamond necklace at the ball in one week, I will have your father's fortunes seized. Next time I see that Skovlan prince you betrayed me with, he'll be put down like the dog he is. Get out of my sight!"

The courtiers part as Veretta gathers the folds of her gown and storms out with her head held high. Within her private chambers, she covertly meets with you, her MOST TRUSTED RETAINERS.

"Some days ago, I ended an affair with the Skovlan prince LARS STORMHEART. He begged me for a token to remember me by. I refused, but he must have taken my heirloom necklace before leaving for his family's estate in Skovlan! I've arranged for your transport on board a leviathan-hunting ship tomorrow to retrieve the necklace."
